

National Conference
on
NATURAL RESOURCE CONSERVATION AND MANAGEMENT FOR AGRICULTURAL AND ENVIRONMENTAL SUSTAINABILITY

8-9th December, 2023

Organised by

Academy of Natural Resource Conservation and Management, Lucknow (U.P.)

at

ICAR-NBFGR Campus, Lucknow (UP)

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Soil and water are the most important Natural Resources which need to be managed scientifically for sustainable development and to mitigate on site and off site effects on natural system. Conserving earth's biological diversity and safeguarding the benefits of ecosystem services are the two major objectives of natural resource management. Natural resource management is a multi-disciplinary field that integrates the complex interrelationship among soil, plant, animal, human and the environment. India is blessed with vast natural resources viz. land, water, vegetation, human and livestock, but their unplanned and unscientific exploitation has led to serious environmental and land degradation processes.

With the objective of popularizing the knowledge on natural resources, a National Conference on Natural Resource Conservation and Management for Agricultural and Environmental Sustainability will be organized on 8-9 December, 2023 to celebrate "World Soil Day" by Academy of Natural Resource Conservation and Management, Lucknow at ICAR-National Bureau of Fish Genetic Resource (NBFGR), Telibagh, Lucknow (Uttar Pradesh), India.
